1. The Central Labor Union* has issued a circular to Chinese members of its branch unions outlining Chinese Communist Government objectives in Asia. The following is a summary of the points contained in the circular.
  - a) The Chinese Communist Government does not aim to control the nations of Asia; nor does it propose to use armed force in any aggressive action.
  - b) The primary objective of the Chinese Communist Government is the destruction of capitalist and fascist governments now existing in Asia. Asia and Europe must be finally separated, and colonialism suppressed. The Chinese Communist Government will therefore take steps to curtail all European plans for the establishment of industrial control in Asia.
  - c) Another important objective is the unification of all nations in Asia into a single massive nation**, even though doing so may lead to a third world war. Furthermore, it may be necessary to fight in China to ensure real liberty for the people and to destroy capitalism.
2. The circular concludes by stating that MAO Tse-tung requests Chinese residents of Thailand not to take any "revenge"*** on the Thais, and to abide by the laws of Thailand.

25X1C [REDACTED] Comment. Source reports that this circular was distributed by the Kung Hui (labor union). In all probability this refers to the Central Labor Union. It should be noted that this circular was intended for rank and file members of the Central Labor Union.

The translation of the circular appears to be a fairly loose one and in some places the meaning is not entirely clear. This is particularly true of point "c". The term "single massive nation" may not be meant literally, although some sort of union or federation is clearly intended.

While paragraph 2 clearly directs Chinese in Thailand not to take part in any demonstrations which will alienate the Thais, this does not necessarily mean that the Chinese Communist Party does not have plans for revolutionary violence by specially trained groups at the appropriate time.
